Inherited Diseases.

ance are most numerous and are daily accumulating. Here, alas, they become terrible, fateful and overwhelming. No fact of nature is more pregnant with awful meaning than the fact of the inheritance of disease. It meets the physician on his daily rounds, paralyzing his art and filling him with dismay. The legend of the ancient Greeks pictures the Furies as pursuing families from generation to generation, render-ing them desoiate. The Furies still ply their work of terror and death, but they are not now clothed in the garb of superstition, but appear in the more intelligible but no less awful form of bereditary disease.

Modern science, which has illuminated so many dark corners of nature, has shed a new light on the ominous words of the Scriptures. "The sins of the fathers shall be visited upon the children unto the third and fourth generation." Instances of hereditary disease abound. Fifty per cent. of cases of consumption, that fearful destroyer of families, of cancer and scrotule, rut in families through inheritance. Insanity is hereditary in a marked degree, but fortunately, like many other hereditary diseases, tends to wear itself out the stock becoming extinct. A wear itself out, the stock becoming extinct A distinguished scientist truly says: "No organ or texture of the body is exempt from the chance of being the subject of hereditary disease." Frobably more chronic diseases, which permanently modify the structure and functions of the body, are more or less liable to be inherited. The important and far reaching practical deductions from such facts—affecting so coverfully the handness of individuals and powerfully the happiness of individuals and families and the collective welfare of the nation —are obvious to reflecting minds and the best means for preventing or curing these diseases is a subject of intense interest to all. Fortunately esture has provided a remedy. Which experience has attested as infallible, and the remedy is the world-famous Swift's Specific, a pure vegetable compound—nature's antidote for all blood ous. To the afflicted it is a blessing of innmable value. An interesting treatise on Slood and Skin Diseases" will be mailed free by addressing
